SIX PEOPLE DROWNED

Launch Is Swept Over a Dam
Near Russell, Pa.

ENGINE ON THE BOAT BROKE

Little Craft Contained Nine Persons and It Drifted Broadside to the Dam and Turned Upside Down as It Went Over.

Jamestown, N. Y., July 13.—Six people were drowned near Russell, Pa., eleven miles south of here. Nine people had taken a gasoline launch on the Conewango river, which was very high owing to rain. The boat was swept over a dam. The dead are: Mr. and Mrs. John Best and daughter, Violet, aged eighteen, of Warren, Pa.; Mrs. George Baker, Warren, Pa.; Mrs. Hilda Knox, Warren, Pa.; D. F. Butts, a traveling salesman from Philadelphia.

A dispatch from Russell, Pa., says that Mr. and Mrs. John Best had invited a company of friends to take supper with them at their cottage on the Conewango river and had come down to the Russell boat landing to meet them. The visitors were in one naphtha launch and Mr. Best and his party in another. The boat containing the visitors became lodged on a pile a short distance above the dam and Mr. Best went to assist them when the engine in his launch broke and the boat containing nine persons drifted toward the dam.

When the boat reached the dam it was drifting broadside and as it went over, turned upside down. Six of the nine persons were caught under it.

THREE FISHERMEN LOST.

Steamship Romanic Sinks an Auxiliary Fishing Schooner.

New York, July 13.—Three victims were added to the long roll of New England fishermen who have lost their lives in wrecks caused by collisions with ocean steamships in the thick fogs off the Massachusetts coast when the White Star line steamship Romanic from Boston to New York ran down and sank the two-masted auxiliary fishing schooner Natalie B. Nickerson of Booth Bay, Me., in a blanketing fog off the Nantucket Lightship.

Three fishermen were still missing when the big Romanic steamed away after two hours' search. Fifteen fishermen were picked up from the wreck age by the Romanic's boats and brought to this city.

ORE TRAIN CRASH KILLS.

One Man Dead and Five Others Injured.

Superior, Wis., July 13.—Two ore trains on the Great Northern came to a head-on collision about twelve miles west of Brookston, with the result that one man was killed and five were injured, one of them so seriously that he is not expected to live. The dead man is J. B. Leonard, brakeman, Millerton, Mich., pinned under wreck.

The injured are Victor Cline, brakeman, crushed internally, not expected to live; Edward F. Roach, engineer, Superior, left shoulder fractured; George D. Smith, engineer, left leg fractured; William Madsen, fireman, Allouez, scalded about face and hands; L. F. Boston, fireman, Superior, both legs fractured.

DYNAMITE OUTRAGES.

Continue as a Result of the Strike at Johannesburg.

Johannesburg, July 13.—The dynamite outrages arising from the strike situation throughout the mining regions continue. The first fatalities occurred when Kilfoil's hotel at Boksburg was blown up. Three men were killed and several were injured. An attempt also was made to damage the Jumpers Deep mine. A native was caught in the act of placing a stick of dynamite at a point where its explosion would cut off a number of white miners in the underground workings.

The strikers will appeal to Premier Botha to force the mine companies to arbitrate.

BANK TELLER SENTENCED

Pleads Guilty at St. Paul to Misappropriation of Funds.

St. Paul, July 13.—Philip Kempfen, paying teller at the Capital National bank, has been sentenced to four years in the state prison by Judge Lewis.

Kempfen appeared before the court and pleaded guilty to misappropriation of funds and accepted his sentence stoically.

Kempfen was arrested in Seattle some weeks ago after he had left the employ of the bank. Shortly after he left St. Paul it was discovered that he had been systematically misappropriating funds. The total amount of his defalcations has not been made public, but it is known to have exceeded $25,000.

For the Golf Championship.

Cleveland, July 13.—Two New Jersey golfers, Jerome D. Travers of Montclair and Archie Graham of the North Jersey club, will play thirty-six holes of golf over the Euclid links to decide to whom shall belong the honor of the national amateur championship. Walter J. Travis, the veteran, is out of the contest, being defeated Friday morning.

FAIRBANKS AT SEATTLE.

The Center of Attraction at Christian Endeavor Convention.

Seattle, Wash., July 13.—Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks was the center of attraction at the Christian Endeavor convention. The vice president had a busy day of it outside of his address to the Endeavorers and he was kept on the move from morning until night.

It was the day for denominational rallies among the churches represented at the convention. Thousands of people gathered at the various churches, where addresses were made along general lines of religious work.

Vice President Fairbanks addressed a monster crowd at the convention tent on the subject "Our Country."

A cablegram was sent by President Francis E. Clark on behalf of the North American Christian Endeavor union to the United States commissioners to The Hague expressing sympathy with the purposes of the peace conference and urging the acceptance of the proposed interparliamentary plan.

WITH A PERFECT SCORE.

First of the Glidden Cars Arrives at Chicago.

Chicago, July 13.—The first of the Glidden touring cars to arrive in this city was that of Montgomery Halliwell of Buffalo and his party of three. It arrived with a perfect score.

The second car to arrive was that of H. K. Sheridan of Cleveland, who was followed closely by A. M. Robins of New York, F. S. Day of Buffalo and A. K. Kuntz of Buffalo.

Charles J. Glidden, the donor of the trophy, was in a car that preceded that of Halliwell. He declared that the roads between South Bend and Chicago were in fair condition, all things considered, and said the run of 101 miles had been made inside of five hours. The tour will be resumed from here on Monday.

Of the seventy-four cars that started, an even fifty reached Chicago and are still in the race, although several of them have been penalized and have no chance to win the Glidden cup.

Two Killed and Eight Injured.

Philadelphia, July 13.—Fortunata Lagando and Francisco Bruno were killed, two others were fatally injured and six were severely hurt by the collapse of floors in a building on Water street above Market, which was being razed to make way for the terminal of the underground railway.

Green Bugs in Minnesota.

Winona, Minn., July 13.—Green bugs descended on Winona Friday evening by millions.

Rate War Impending.

St. Paul, July 13.—War is impending among the St. Paul-Chicago lines, and it will be prolonged and bitter, from present indications. The Wisconsin Central has notified competing lines that it will put in a $7 rate between St. Paul and Chicago, which is a request for a differential of $1.75. The new through rate between the two points on the basis of the reduced rates will be $8.75. The other lines will not stand for this differential and will fight it by meeting the $7 rate.

ANOTHER JAP CAUGHT

Had Blue Print of Fort Rosecrans Military Works.

WAS SERVANT AT THE FORT

But Appears to Be Well Posted on Military Engineering—Admiral Yamamoto of Japan Meets President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

San Diego, Cal., July 13.—It has been learned from a trustworthy source that in addition to the Japanese detected in making sketches at Fort Rosecrans a few days ago another was arrested in the fort Friday night for having a blue print of the works in his possession. This latter Japanese was employed as a servant at the fort. He is a man of superior attainments. In his room was found a standard work on engineering. The blue print was well drawn and showed much technical skill, but was not quite completed.

Major Gatchell still positively refuses to admit or deny that Japanese have been detected in spying on the fort, but from others in a position to know the facts the report is confirmed.

TALKS WITH ROOSEVELT.

Admiral Yamamoto of Japan Meets the President.

New York, July 13.—Admiral Baron Yamamoto, one of Japan's naval experts, Friday met for the first time President Roosevelt, the man who more than any other man was responsible for the conclusion of peace between Japan and Russia after a war during which Admiral Yamamoto was Japan's minister of marine.

In private conversation the representatives of the two countries discussed the clouds that have been hanging over the long lasting friendship between Japan and America and each expressed the opinion that it was merely a passing shadow and one which in no way could reach the climax that could shake the confidence each country has had in the other since Commodore Perry induced the Tokogawa Shogun to open the island empire to the outside world.

Although Admiral Yamamoto is in America purely in a personal capacity and in no way as a representative of his government, President Roosevelt made special arrangements to entertain him and a party of naval officers who accompanied him and both before and after the luncheon, at which they were entertained at the President's summer home at Oyster Bay. Mr. Roosevelt took occasion to discuss in an informal manner the sensational stories that have been printed in the newspapers of both countries.

Solely Against Pacific Coast People.

Admiral Yamamoto in these conversations repeated the statements that he had made on several occasions since he arrived in New York to the effect that any feeling that there might be in Japan because of occurrences on the Pacific coast was directed solely against the people of that section of the country and that there was no possible chance of this feeling reaching a point where trouble between the two governments would be possible.

After the visit to Oyster Bay Admiral Yamamoto and members of his suite expressed delight at having had the opportunity of meeting the president of the United States in such an informal manner and said they were convinced that the meeting had done much to brush away any possibility of a misunderstanding between the two countries. As an incident of the meeting Captain Khano, who is Admiral Yamamoto's aide, presented to President Roosevelt a personal gift from the emperor of Japan. The gift consisted of a small box of imperial Japanese red lacquer, the making of which is a lost art, even in Japan.

STATEMENT BY HAYASHI.

Japanese Minister of Foreign Affairs Discusses Situation.

Tokio, July 13.—Viscount Hayashi, the Japanese minister of foreign affairs, made the following statement in an interview:

"The governments of Washington and Tokio are conducting negotiations in perfect accord. Japan is availing herself of America's good will and no hitch whatever is apprehended. Until the new treaty comes up for discussion Japan has no right to agitate against restriction in the number of her emigrants. Her demands for the present consist simply that Japanese be protected against provocation, but for the rest the American judicial authorities must be left to deal with the situation.

"My government does not look with suspicion on the moving of an American fleet to the Pacific. Since America is moving this fleet within her territory, Japan can raise no objection."

WHITE BEAR REGATTA.

Furnishes Plenty of Excitement for Rowing Enthusiasts.

St. Paul, July 13.—An enormous crowd witnessed the first day's racing of the 1907 regatta of the Minnesota and Western Canada Rowing association at White Bear lake. The weather was ideal for the sport and there was plenty of excitement for the rowing enthusiasts. In the first event of the day, the junior singles, A. E. Muir of Winnipeg capsized when he had a good lead and was nearing the finish line, a holding pin in his ora-lock breaking and his shell turning turtle like a flash. Muir was nearly exhausted from his exertions and was rescued by the timekeepers' launch in the nick of time.

In the second event, the senior fours, Winnipeg and Fort William came into collision after a quarter of a mile of the course had been covered and Winnipeg stopped rowing. Both Winnipeg and Fort William claim a foul, which will be taken up by the judges and the race may possibly be ordered rowed over.

The prettiest contest of the day was between Winnipeg and Duluth for second place in the junior eights, Duluth barely nosing out the Canadians. Minnesota was first. All the races were at a mile and half.

Dr. C. Nothersill, Winnipeg, won the junior singles, the only other contestant, Muir, being swamped.

Minnesota won the senior fours Fort William second.

Winnipeg won the senior doubles Minnesota second.

Winnipeg won the junior fours, Duluth second, Kenora third, Minnesota fourth.

CONCLUDES ITS LABORS.

National Educational Association Convention at Los Angeles Ended.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 13.—The National Educational association concluded its labors with adoption of a series of resolutions, principal among which was one presented to the convention by Colonel Alexander Hogg, former superintendent of schools at Fort Worth, Tex. It reads:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this association that it is the duty of the teachers of this republic at once to enter upon a systematic course of instructions that shall embrace not only a broader patriotism, but a more extended course of moral instruction, especially in regard to the rights and duties of citizenship, the right of property, the security and sacredness of human life."

Second in importance to this resolution was one upon the subject of simplified spelling, endorsing the work of the simplified spelling board and directing the secretary of the association to adopt the shorter style of all of the 300 selected words in the publication of the association. It carried by a vote of 209 to 22, but it was claimed that many other than active members voted in the affirmative.

Ameer's Idea of a Handsome Reward. Dr. D. H. Davison, formerly of Stretator, Ill., who has been in Burma for some time establishing dental clinics for the king of Burma and on his own account, recently arrived at Boston on his way home, says the New York Tribune. While in Burma he met another young American, who had been official dentist for the army of the ameer of Afghanistan, at a large salary. The ameer was so pleased with the man's work that he promised him a handsome present in addition to the salary. So often was this bonus mentioned that the American expected something magnificent. When the contract expired the ameer summoned him and, with an important and mysterious air, presented the American with a package containing a cheap American nickel watch.

New Way to Preserve Meat. Professor Lapparent of Paris has discovered a new way of preserving meat. It is hung up in a tight box and then a few sulphur threads are burned in it, after which the box is closed. The meat will be preserved longer than is necessary in housekeeping, and its taste is not at all affected.

WHAT IS THE SOIL?

Extent of This Precious but Limited Surface Material.

If you were asked to name the most important of mineral substances, you would doubtless hesitate for a moment and weigh the respective merits of coal, iron and the precious metals. Only after some consideration probably would it occur to you that these highly useful substances have insignificant value as compared with that familiar mixture of ground up minerals which we call the soil.

Man could make shift to live and even in a measure to progress without glass or cement or metals, but his very life depends upon the little film of triturated rock that is spread over the surface of the globe in the form of earth. The constituents of this are metamorphosed into the substance of plants and ultimately into the tissues of man himself.

Properly to understand the matter, however, it must be comprehended that the soil is no important part of the earth's structure, except from a strictly human standpoint. At best it is only a little film of material frayed off from the jacket called the earth's crust. To a giant of such size that the earth were to him what an apple is to us the soil would be no more than the bloom on the peach.

With his handkerchief he could wipe off the films of water that we call oceans, like so much dew, and polish off the soil as we rub the bloom from an apple, clear down to the rock foundations, without changing appreciably the size or the weight of his toy.

To scrape away the entire crust of the earth (so far as known to us) would be but to remove an infinitesimal shell, and the total bulk of air and oceans aggregates only 7 per cent of that shell. Yet the oceans cover three-fifths of the earth's surface and, as measured in human terms, are some miles in depth. How, then, shall we estimate the insignificance of that little powdering of soil, only a few feet in thickness, that is dusted over the remaining two-fifths of the earth's crust.—Appleton's.

THE FLIRTING LOBBY.

Feminine Visitors to the English House of Commons.

Women visitors to the English house of commons are relegated to the semi-seclusion of a gallery provided with a heavy iron grating. When a gentle hum of conversation and light laughter floats down from the ladies' gallery members look up and see through the interstices of the heavy grating delicate tints of soft fabrics, the bloom of a fair cheek or the gleam of a bare white arm.

Amusement and curiosity, of course, bring the ladies to the house of commons, but these cannot be the only motives. The fair visitors would hardly trouble to array themselves in such ravishing evening toilets merely to sit in the gallery, that ill lighted den where dresses are not seen to advantage.

No doubt it was with a view to the prevention of flirting that the rule was laid down that if a member desires to converse with a lady in the gallery he may do so for five minutes only. Members, especially the young and impressionable, make frequent visits to the cage. Of course it is for the purpose of pointing out the celebrities on the benches below.

But if in doing so he should exceed five minutes the gallery attendant is empowered to call his attention, courteously, but firmly, to the fact that he has outstayed his limit. It is to be feared that this official, in evening dress, with a chain and badge, often interrupts, by his "Time's up, sir!" whisperings of soft nothings in the ladies' gallery, or the "flirting lobby," as it has been nicknamed.—London Ladies' Realm.

Nothing Doing.

"Nothing doing?" Is that slang? I thought it was until I came upon the words in Dickens' "Dombey & Son."

In chapter 4 old Sol Gillis is explaining to his nephew Walter why the shop must be closed and the business abandoned. "You see, Walter," said he, "in truth this business is merely a habit with me. I am so accustomed to the habit that I could hardly live if I relinquished it, but there's nothing doing, nothing doing."

So, you see, the phrase had its pathetic fitness many years ago and is not slang at all.—Jeffersonian Magazine.

PAWNEE BILL CAME AND WENT

Wild West and Far East Show

Police Report no Complaint of Fakirs and Sharpers Operating
That Day

Pawnee Bill and his aggregation have come and gone. The show left last night over the Minnesota & International for Bemidji and shows there today. Tonight or tomorrow they will return through here enroute to Little Falls, where they will show Monday, going from there to Duluth.

There is the usual variety of opinions as to the merits of the performance, some lauding it highly and others speaking disparagingly of it. It was so entirely different from the usual circus that there is little chance for comparison but there was certainly a fine exhibition of riding. The 44 cars advertised as being used in the transportation of the train shrank to 23 when the contract with the railroad was under consideration. The cars were large ones, however, some of the horse cars being the longest ever seen in this city. There was little complaint heard of fakirs or sharpers in connection with the show, though there were several hoboos who apparently drifted into the city with the aggregation and were more willing to solicit aid and food from charitable residents than they were to tackle any of the numerous jobs of work which are so plenty in the city at this time.

Railroad News

The race for International Falls between the Northern Pacific and the Duluth and Rainy River road is becoming acute. Duluth papers report the Rainy River road ahead, while twin city papers think the Northern Pacific will get its track in first.

According to reports the Northern Pacific railroad is going to make extensive terminal improvements at Washburn. That city has a better harbor than Ashland and may become the principal Chequamegon bay terminal of the road so far as coal and grain is concerned.

Long Live the King

is the popular cry throughout European countries; while in America the cry of the present day is "Long Live Dr. King's New Discovery, King of Throat and Lung Remedies!" of which Mrs. Julia Kyder Payne, Truro, Mass., says: "It never fails to give immediate relief and to quickly cure a cough or cold." Mrs. Payne's opinion is shared by a majority of the inhabitants of this country. New Discovery cures weak lungs and sore throats after all other remedies have failed; and for coughs and colds it's the proven remedy. Guaranteed by H. P. Dunn & Co., Druggists. 50c and $1.00. DODGED RECRUITING OFFICER

Ex-Cavalry Men With Pawnee Bill Show Did Not Care to Make Corp. Swedberg's Acquaintance

The five ex-cavalry men who represented the United States army with the Pawnee Bill show did not care to make the acquaintance of Corporal Swedberg, who is in charge of the local recruiting office. There is a provision in the United States statutes prohibiting anyone not in the military service of the United States wearing the uniform. This the cavalry men well know and for that reason they were not anxious to make the acquaintance of the officer. He tried to meet them several times during the day, but they dodged him every time until evening when he went to the show and saw them. They were formerly members of the Second cavalry, two being from L. troop. Mr. Swedberg says that the boys say that show life is not what it is cracked up to be. As they had no clothes except the uniforms Corp. Swedberg said nothing to them about not wearing the uniform. Mr. Swedberg remarked that the United States government was not as strict about permitting the indiscriminate wearing of the uniform of its service as other countries or as in his opinion it should be.

A Lesson in Road Making

Mankato Review:—The road leading north from this city along the bluff to Mankato Junction furnishes an example of what can be accomplished in making good roads with the use of the split log drag. This stretch of road was recently pronounced by Mr. G. W. Cooley as being a "perfect earth road." It has not always been in its present excellent condition, however, but has been so by the persistent efforts of Mr. Gilbert Fletcher. About a year ago that gentleman was on a visit to Mr. G. M. Palmer's office, picked up one of the circulars gotten out by the Daily Review, giving instructions as to the making and operating of the King road drag. He took it home and within a day or so had made one of the drags, using a split log and some old lumber he picked up about the place. He procured an old road scraper blade for which he paid 40 cents, and attached it to the front half of the log, and his entire expense aside from his time, in getting the implement ready for business was less than $1. He then began a systematic use of the machine on the road, beginning at the city limits and covering a stretch of about half a mile, with the result that he has made the road in that distance worthy the high compliment paid it by Mr. Cooley. Mr. Fletcher's work on this road is entirely voluntary, was undertaken and has been kept up purely out of public spirit and pride.

In speaking the matter to a Review representative Saturday evening, Mr. Fletcher said that he was only too glad to render this slight service to the public.

"I consider," he continued, "that a good road to and in front of a farm adds from $10 up to its value per acre."

We were shown his drag, which he reconstructed three different times, changes being made each time to meet the ideas his experience in operating it suggested. He works it with three horses and a driver besides himself, both riding on the drag, one changing position as need to take off elevated portions or fill up depressions in the road.

Within twenty-four hours after last week's heavy rain Mr. Fletcher had his piece of road dragged as smooth as pavement and it was perfectly dry. It is a pleasure to travel upon such a road and the public who use the country roads most will join the Review in hoping that the day is not far distant when Mr. Fletcher's public spirit will become epidemic.

Different Now

H. G. Ingersoll, father of the senior editor of THE DISPATCH dropped into the office today while there was a large invoice of new material being placed in position and the sight of it aroused the memories of his early days as a disciple of the art preservative of arts, and he had some very interesting reminiscences to give the younger members of the force.

Mr. Ingersoll learned his trade in Pennsylvania considerable over sixty years ago and worked in Chicago in 1849, pulling a hand press in that city before Chicago ever saw a power press. He says he ought to have stayed there. Another of his experiences in what would now be known as the strenuous life, was working in the office of an abolition paper in Lexington, Ky., "before the war." The office was mobbed and one of the printers killed, Mr. Ingersoll, then a boy of 18 escaped by being thrown out of the window. The office and plant were totally destroyed by the mob. He worked in many cities and towns throughout the Mississippi Valley working at the trade in every capacity from "devil" to editor and proprietor. In the days when he did most of work at the trade a printer would have dropped dead of heart failure at the sight of an office fitted out with steel run cabinets, all brass galleys, two-revolution presses, patent mailers and electric motors such as THE DISPATCH is putting in.

TESTIMONY IS ENDED

William D. Haywood Leaves the Witness Stand.

ONLY ONE MORE WITNESS

And the Defense Will Have Concluded Its Case—Defendant Denies That He Was Ever Guilty of Any Crime. Classes Borah With Steunenberg.

Boise, Ida., July 13.—William D. Haywood, charged with the murder of Frank Steunenberg, left the witness chair Friday afternoon. He had been under examination six hours, the time being equally divided between his own counsel and Senator Borah, who conducted the cross-examination. Haywood's testimony practically closes the case for the defense. One more witness will be called and his examination will take up about fifteen minutes. The state will then begin the rebuttal unless motions to strike out certain parts of the evidence should be brought forward by the defense.

Counsel for the state announced their willingness to abide by the instructions of the court to the jury and will not occupy the time with the arguments on motion to strike out evidence.

There is a prospect that the case may be brought to a conclusion within two weeks. The state expects to close the rebuttal by Wednesday or Thursday next. The defense expresses the opinion that the rebuttal will be in by Saturday.

When Clarence Darrow, Haywood's counsel, closed the direct examination of his client and quietly remarked "you may cross-examine," the prisoner-witness turned in his chair and faced Mr. Borah, his face pale and his jaws firmly set. There was a stir in the courtroom and then an absolute silence. The first questions and answers came in such subdued tones that Mr. Richardson of Haywood's counsel asked the witness to speak out.

Rapid Cross-Examination.

Borah's cross-examination, always rapid fire, was more than unusually quick, but from the first to last Haywood preserved complete self-control. At times his replies came as quickly as the questions were flung at him. Again he would hesitate and speak slowly, with a marked emphasis. Mr. Borah's manner was courteous throughout, but now and then a tinge of sarcasm appeared as he insisted on a direct answer and Haywood appeared reluctant. Haywood in turn was as courteous as the cross-examiner. Invariably he addressed Mr. Borah as "senator" and repeatedly asked permission to explain when he thought there might be some misunderstanding.

Notwithstanding the air of consideration, of quiet speech and courteous bearing, there was not a moment throughout the three hours of cross-examination that the atmosphere did not tingle with possibilities. Once when Senator Borah pressed Haywood as to his sentiments toward Governor Steunenberg, Haywood said quietly and with a smile, "I felt no different toward Steunenberg than I do toward you or any of those people."

Senator Borah looked up quickly, but he did not smile. He said very quickly, "Yes, I have been given to understand something of that sort," and did not pursue the subject.

Much of Haywood's testimony was a repetition in detail of what Moyer said Thursday. Haywood, however, made no effort to deny his knowledge of Orchard and his affairs or his connection with Simpkins. He was pressed closely as to the passage of telegrams relating to the engagement of counsel to defend Orchard and in this connection admitted that he knew Simpkins had retained counsel, but that there was no record of any report from Simpkins to the officials of the Western Federation.

Never Heard Orchard Make Threats.

Like Moyer, Haywood said he had never heard Harry Orchard threaten Steunenberg, though he had heard of Orchard's claim that he had lost his interest in the Hercules mine because of the troubles in the Cour D'Alenes. Haywood explained the draft sent to Simpkins for $100 on Dec. 21, 1905, on the ground that Simpkins had left the money with him for safekeeping.

He had no acknowledgment of the receipt of the money and had not heard from Simpkins since that time. Haywood said he never told Pettibone that he had sent any money to Simpkins.

In his opening speech, Mr. Darrow said it was doubtful if the defense would attempt to explain the copy of the letter received by Orchard while he was in jail in Caldwell in which he said:

"That 'it' was sent on Dec. 21." In his testimony Orchard said that this letter was in reply to one from him to Pettibone asking for $100.

Haywood in many particulars confirmed Orchard, but where Orchard connected Haywood or the Western Federation with crime the witness was emphatic and prompt in his denials. He showed no desire to conceal the fact that Orchard had visited him at his house or that he on different occasions had intimate conversations with Orchard. He denounced the administration of Colorado at the time of the troubles as corrupt and he extolled the Western Federation. Throughout Haywood's testimony there was a note of antagonism to what he calls the capitalistic class and his confirmed view that only by such methods as those followed by the Western Federation can the workingman hope to control the situation.

UPHOLDS UNWRITTEN LAW

Maryland Jury Acquits Mrs. Bowie and Her Son.

La Plata, Md., July 13.—It took the jury in the Bowie murder trial but five minutes to decide that in Southern Maryland, at least, the "unwritten law" is the law to which the seducer must hold himself answerable. Mrs. Mary E. Bowie and her son Henry were exonerated of all blame for their acknowledged slaying last January of Robert Posey, the seducer of their daughter and sister, Priscilla Bowie, who with her fatherless child has made a most pathetic picture in the courtroom during the progress of the trial.

State's Attorney Willmer's request to the jury that it bring in a verdict of manslaughter, not of murder, made Thursday evening was not more noteworthy than the frankness with which Congressman Sidney E. Mudd of counsel for the defense appealed to the "unwritten law" in behalf of his clients.

"Gentlemen," said Congressman Mudd in opening, "we shall claim that these defendants were justified by what the newspapers have called the 'unwritten law.'"

He then cited many cases in which the avengers of wronged daughters sisters and wives have been acquitted. At the conclusion of Congressman Mudd's argument, State's Attorney Willmer again addressed the jury arguing against the "unwritten law," and referring his hearers to the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," but he urged the jury to give the defendants the benefit of every possible doubt and repeated that he did not ask for a verdict of murder, but for one of manslaughter. The jurors, however, evidently took Mr. Mudd's view of the case and when they filed into court it was to declare that the killing of Robert Posey was justified.

TELLS HOW HE WAS TRAPPED

Acting Mayor of San Francisco on the Witness Stand.

San Francisco, July 13.—Acting Mayor Charles Boxton, the first of the city officials to fall into the net spread by the bribery graft prosecution, on the witness stand in the Glass trial told in detail the story of his entrapment last fall at the home of one Roy who bought for $500 his supervisory vote against an ordinance prohibiting child patronage of skating rinks, only to turn him over to the law. He told how "Spreckels and Heney and Landon Burns and a dozen others outside the doors," walked in on him and confronted him with statements of proof and threats of punishment, how they offered to let him go free if he would "turn up" his confederates and accomplices inside and outside of the board of supervisors; how he agreed, and how a written guarantee of immunity was drawn up and signed and placed in Spreckels' pocket.

Both the direct and cross-examination of Mayor Boxton was concluded within one day.

On the cross-examination of Mayor Boxton, Attorney Delmas began laying the foundation to show that Boxton is a perjurer and that therefore his testimony against Glass as having accepted a bribe from Halsey of the telephone company is not worthy of belief.

FORTY TWO SENTENCED.

Toledo Judge Metes Out Justice to Trust Magnates.

Toledo, O., July 13.—Twenty-one members of the Lumber Dealers' Credit association, nine members of the Brick Dealers' association and two bridge agents, who two months ago pleaded guilty to indictments charging violations of the Valentine anti-trust law, were sentenced by Judge Lindley W. Morris in common pleas court here.

The lumbermen and the bridge men were sentenced to six months in the workhouse and the brick men were fined $1,000 each.

The sentence of the brick men is the maximum for the offense to which they pleaded guilty, which included only one section of the Valentine law, the penalty for violation of which is a fine of $50 to $1,000 without imprisonment.

Minimum imprisonment sentence was given the lumbermen and bridge men. Executions of sentences were suspended for ten days.

An application will be made to the circuit court for suspension of the sentences.

The defendants in these cases claim to have saved certain rights that are not affected by pleas of guilty and while they admit their guilt they will prosecute error in the superior courts without delay.

Acquitted Under Unwritten Law.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 13.—Raymond Teson pleaded insanity and the unwritten law as a defense for the killing of George Mayhan and was acquitted by a jury here. The jury decided that Teson was insane when he shot Mayhan and is still of unsound mind. He will be committed to the state insane asylum until his reason is restored. It was proved Mayhan was intimate with Mrs. Teson.

Will Investigate Telegraphers' Strike.

San Francisco, July 13.—United States Commissioner of Labor Neill has arrived here from Chicago for the purpose of investigating the telegraphers' strike.

GLIMPSES OF LANDIS

Chicago Judge Who Insisted That Rockefeller Testify Before Him.

MAN OF TACT; FINE JUDGMENT

Noted For His Determination Throughout His Career of Distinction—Well Grounded in Law and Unswerving From a Purpose Once Fixed—Began as a Newsboy.

Men who have followed the career of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who insisted on bringing John D. Rockefeller into court, are not surprised at the determination he has shown to get the rock bottom facts in connection with the case of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. Judge Landis has been a forceful character wherever he has been placed, says a Chicago dispatch to the New York Herald.

Directness and thoroughness won him the esteem of the foreign diplomats at Washington and of the American statesmen and politicians, as well when he served as private secretary to Walter Q. Gresham, secretary of state in the cabinet of President Cleveland.

It is related that upon one occasion Mr. Landis, acting for Mr. Gresham, clashed with the wishes of Mr. Cleveland and the president sought his removal. But so attached had Secretary Gresham become to the young man that he stood up loyally for his subordinate, and when Mr. Cleveland found that to take Landis' scalp he would have to take Gresham's also he acquiesced in the situation. Later Landis and the president became strongly attached to each other, and when they parted Mr. Cleveland assured Landis he could have a high diplomatic post. The Venezuelan ministry was open at the time, but Landis declined to accept any office, saying he wished to stay at Chicago and practice law.

"Every day I put it off will be a day lost," he told President Cleveland. He came to Chicago, and every post he passed became a winning one until he was elevated to the post of United States district judge for the northern district of Illinois in 1905.

A man of striking features is Judge Landis, whose tangled iron gray hair gives him the appearance of a man much older, for the judge is not quite forty-one. He was born in Millville, O., Nov. 20, 1866, and is the sixth child of Dr. Abraham H. Landis, who during the civil war was a surgeon in the Thirty-fifth Ohio regiment. It is to the fact that his father was badly wounded at the battle of Kenesaw Mountain that the judge owes his peculiar baptismal names.

At the age of seven he went with his parents to Logansport, Ind., where he attended public school. As a boy he carried papers. Then he became a reporter on the Logansport Journal. He studied stenography, and from 1883 to 1886 was official stenographer of the circuit court of Lake county, Ind. Coming to Chicago, he entered the Union College of Law, from which he graduated in 1890. He was admitted to the bar, and at the time when Secretary Gresham chose him for his private secretary and confidant he was one of the instructors in the Northwestern University Law school.

While in Washington Landis gained most valuable knowledge of men and things, which proved helpful to him in later years. He came to know Mr. Gresham so well that he divined intuitively the famous Kentuckian's every wish, and Landis often assumed great responsibilities in the absence of his superior, invariably to be backed up in what he did by the secretary of state, who had implicit confidence in him.

He relieved his chief of as much of the burden of the office as possible, and came to be known in and out of the department as having Gresham's sanction for all matters in which he assumed authority. Thoroughness and directness characterized his every act, and being gifted with tact and fine judgment he knew as well what matters to let alone as what to take up. He made friends with all who had business with the department, and especially was well liked by many members of the diplomatic corps. On first arrival he shunned the social side of diplomatic life, but before he left was well broken into the dress coat and reception habit.

A thorough American, well grounded in the law, indefatigable, not to be swerved from a purpose once fixed, such is the judge who told John S. Miller, an attorney, of "immunity bath" fame, that he must produce certain evidence in order that Judge Landis might know what sums would constitute just and equitable fines in the case wherein the Standard Oil Company of Indiana had been found guilty by a jury in a federal court.

This jury had found the company in question liable to a fine for having accepted concessions from the Chicago and Alton railway upon no less than 1,400 counts, the fine in each of which may range from $1,000 to $20,000. The government contention has been that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was in reality a branch agency of the Standard Oil trust, this concern having been the predecessor of the present Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. The Standard Oil Company of Indiana is capitalized at $1,000,000. The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is capitalized at $100,000,000; hence if the government can prove that the New Jersey parent corporation is responsible for its alleged branch so much the more in equity might the fines be upon the impregnable argument that the principal is responsible for the acts of its agents.

As Mr. Miller and his confreres displayed their varying tactics throughout the proceedings and showed no inclination to produce the evidence Judge Landis sought in order to assess the fines, he decreed that the officers of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, even including John D. Rockefeller, president, be subpoenaed and appear before him.

"But Mr. Rockefeller has little to do with the active management of the business," argued Mr. Miller. "It is useless and a burden to bring him here. He is an old man. He is quite wealthy. He has a great many financial holdings, and it will be a hardship and difficult for him to come here."

Fatal mistake and puerile argument for an old fox like John Miller to plead before Landis!

"This court makes no distinction so far as its process goes against either a wealthy or a poor man," said Landis simply, coldly, slowly. "It is inconceivable that a president at the head of one company should not know whether that company owns another one, and that is one of the things I want to find out."

"I want Mr. Rockefeller here to find out from him, if possible, that thing and others he may be able to tell. If the witnesses see fit not to answer my questions, they will be given all the chance they want to refuse in open court. These subpoenas will be served. I shall not interfere with the service on any of them."

Simple English, short words, straight from the shoulder Anglo-Saxon! And to a remark of Mr. Miller which approached dangerously to contempt of court, to the effect that the issuing of subpoenas for Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Rogers bordered on "mere sensationalism anyway" on the part of the district attorney's office, Judge Landis retorted:

"I alone am responsible for this action. I want the information I have asked for, and I intend to have it. It should have been forthcoming before this time without all this trouble."

Such a man is Judge Landis, and it may be that the American people will hear and see more of this man. At any rate, the great mass of the American people are pleased with the spectacle of a judge who is unwilling to toady or play the sycophant to the wealthy, even the wealthiest man in the world.

Judge Landis is married, his wife having been Miss Winifred Reed of Ottawa, Ill., a sister-in-law of the late James H. Eckels.

THE NATIONAL FLOWER.

Corn Tassel Suggested by Department of Agriculture Official.

Wilmet M. Hays, assistant secretary of agriculture, in view of the many diverse suggestions contained in letters to the editor of the New York Tribune recently in regard to the choice of a national flower, is inclined to the opinion that the corn tassel is the most distinctively characteristic American plant that could be selected, writes the Tribune's Washington correspondent.

"Corn probably suggests itself as a plant," he said recently, "more than its tassel appears as a flower. It is distinctively American, grows throughout the country and has a strong hold upon the people. It is true that the suggestion of the corn tassel as a national flower smacks somewhat of hog and hominy and might not appeal to the finer sensibilities of the ultra artistic, but nevertheless it is a thing of beauty. It strikes me that the plant itself might enter readily into schemes of decoration. There is nothing more beautiful than young corn, and its graceful blades might be used in many instances. There is an artist out west who has devoted himself almost exclusively to the painting of ears of corn and who has gained a wide reputation in this work. The various beauties of the plant should make it of artistic value."

"Were the people of the country allowed to vote upon a national flower I am of the opinion that the columbine would receive a very large vote. It is widely distributed and has a hold upon the masses. It has a pretty name. These two would seem to me the candidates that would probably have the strongest claim upon the public for final adoption."

Square Parasols Now.

One of the novelties recently seen at Ascot was a square parasol fringed at the edge with silk or little silver balls, says a special cablegram from London to the New York Times. The fashion was imported from the Riviera, where it was the vogue early in the year. Some examples of this new sunshade seen at Ascot were very artistic, the panels beautifully embroidered and the fringes charmingly constructed, with tiny rosebuds in them or minute daisies dangling from their stalks.

New Fire Escape.

The American consul at Chemnitz, Germany, describes a new fire escape device perfected by a Swiss engineer. It consists of a series of folding iron ladders attached to window frames, each one reaching to the next window below. By turning a crank on any door all of the frames beneath are unfolded, thus forming a continuous ladder to the ground.

A Welcome.

De lightning bug he come aroun'
An' hang his lantern out,
De whippoorwill begin to soun',
De owl begin to shout.
De bat comes bustlin' in to see
Why all de fuss is made.
De bullfrog says, "It's up to me
To lead dat serenade!"

De daisies deperate de road,
De clovers' bloomin' sweet,
Dey've all done jes' de bes' dey knowed.

To make things fine an' neat,
An' every one is de go.
We all feels glad again.
Miss Summertime is back once mo'.
We thought she'd missed de train.
